++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Another dry, cold night. Showers arrive later tomorrow.

This Evening and Tonight:
Skies will remain largely clear tonight, with just some patchy cloud in southernmost areas, allowing for another dry, cold night. Many will see frost develop in the early hours, with prone areas possibly seeing patches of fog form as well. Minimum temperature -2 deg C (28 deg F).

Monday:
Some hazy sunshine before cloud encroaches in the morning, though staying dry at first. Showers for northernmost areas towards the evening, affecting the rest of the region into the night. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Showers through the morning, easing later, on Tuesday. Further scattered showers on Wednesday and Thursday, some locally heavy. Cloudy, and turning colder with a continued overnight frost risk.
